

Eligibility Determination – [Language]* Beginners Courses Information and Application Form

* insert relevant language, eg Chinese

Students need to meet specific eligibility criteria for [Language] Beginners courses. For each of these courses, students must apply for an eligibility determination. The principal needs to make eligibility decisions before the student’s enrolment in the relevant Languages course.

A student applying for an eligibility determination must:

- complete the [Language] Beginners Course – Application for Eligibility Determination form (including the Statutory Declaration)
- provide relevant additional documentation the principal requires, or that they wish to submit.

Note: Submitting false, inaccurate or incomplete information could place a student’s eligibility for the Higher School Certificate (HSC) at risk.

Course eligibility criteria

To be eligible for a course, a student must meet all eligibility criteria at the time of entry to that course.

For determining eligibility:

- speakers of dialects and variants of a language are considered speakers of the standard language, eg Cantonese Chinese speakers are considered speakers of Mandarin
- speakers of Indonesian and speakers of Malay are considered speakers of both languages
- formal education is ‘education that is institutionalised, intentional and planned through public organizations [sic] and recognised private bodies, and – in their totality – constitute the formal education system of a country.’ (UNESCO International Standard Classification of Education, 2011, para 36).

Target candidature	Eligibility criteria
Students are learning the language as a second (or additional) language. Students either have no prior spoken or written knowledge or experience of the language, or their experience is derived solely from, or is equivalent to, study of the language for 100 hours or less in Stage 4 or Stage 5.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Students have had no more than 100 hours’ study of the language at the secondary level (or the equivalent). • Students have little or no previous knowledge of the language. For exchange students, a significant in-country experience (involving experiences such as homestay and attendance at school) of more than three months renders a student ineligible.

Determining eligibility

The principal of the school delivering the course determines eligibility. This may be:

- the student's home school
- the Saturday School of Community Languages
- the NSW School of Languages
- a Distance Education Centre
- a TAFE.

For a student who intends to study the course with an approved outside tutor, the principal of the student's home school determines eligibility.

To be deemed eligible for a course, a student must meet all eligibility criteria at the time of entry to that course.

The principal must provide the eligibility determination to the student in writing before the student enrolls in the relevant Language course. Schools that deliver Language courses outside the home school may have early submission deadlines. The student is responsible for meeting these deadlines.

Review of principal's eligibility determination

If a student believes that the principal's determination has not been made according to the course eligibility criteria, they can request a review of the determination.

Students requesting a review must:

- use an Application for Review of Eligibility Determination form
- submit their review request to the principal within one week of receiving the principal's original decision
- if applicable, include relevant documentation not included in the original application.

The principal and/or school review panel will re-examine the matter and advise the student of the outcome in writing.

Appeal to NESAs

If the review concludes that the student remains ineligible to undertake the Language course, the student may appeal to NESAs.

Any student who wishes to appeal to NESAs must submit their request to the principal within one week of receiving the review decision. The school must then submit the appeal to NESAs within one week of the student's request.

The appeal must include:

1. an Application for Eligibility Determination form (including the Statutory Declaration)
2. an Application for Review of Eligibility Determination form
3. an Appeal to NESAs against Principal's Eligibility Determination form
4. documentation submitted to the principal as part of the student's application for eligibility determination or review.

Appeals should be emailed to studentsupport@nesa.nsw.edu.au.

NESAs will notify the principal and the student of its decision via email.
